Company: FDM Group

Location: Australia

Category: computer-and-mathematical

Join our Graduate Program in our Data & Analytics Practice and become a data pro in one of the most influential careers in the tech industry.

Whether it's navigating the intricacies of data extraction with structured query language (SQL) or creating data visualisation and online dashboards, you will gain expertise across a range of technical areas. Our training will cover business intelligence essentials, like diverse data modelling and warehousing, turning large unstructured data sets into valuable business insights.

Explore diverse and exciting roles on client assignments. Develop the skills and tools to forecast, analyse and harness data and learn the fundamentals of business intelligence, data engineering and machine learning.

About this role

We welcome candidates from all degree backgrounds, no STEM experience required. Show us your passion for tech and we'll show you the skills for success on your career journey.

Upon joining FDM, you will become an Associate Consultant within our Data & Analytics Practice and commence your journey by building core capabilities for 6 weeks after which you will develop key skills in a practice-based learning environment for up to 6 weeks. Engaging in various sprints within FDM's Skill Lab, you'll learn technical and professional skills necessary for your first client assignment. The Skill Lab mirrors real-world scenarios and client settings, providing hands-on experience in roles like BI Developer, Robotic Process Automation (RPA) Developer, Data Engineer, Machine Learning Engineer, or Data Analyst, with access to continuous upskilling and career development opportunities.

Where ambition meets opportunity

At FDM, we want driven people from diverse backgrounds. Dedicated to your continuous growth, we offer a non-linear career journey with our Skills Lab helping guide you to the future you want.

Your skill set will grow, clients will value your increased expertise and your career will thrive exponentially.

It's a journey packed with exciting opportunities – just seize them!
