About the Project:

The Mardie Salt and Potash Project is in the north-west coast of WA (approximately 135km south-west of Karratha) and will include the design, fabrication, supply, construction, installation and commissioning of Port Marine Structures that has an export capacity of 3,300TPH of industrial grade salt and sulphate of potash. The works includes:

a piled 2.4 km jetty structure with head-end platform, berthing and mooring dolphins

a materials handling conveying system including shiploader non-process infrastructure comprising fire suppression equipment, employee amenities, fixed crane, channel markers and other navigation aids ancillary equipment, including security gates, CCTV, lighting, outfall pipe on jetty, diffuser, and emergency boat launcher

About You:

Hold a relevant licence/trade certificate where applicable.

Hold a valid Construction White Card.

Have a high level of safety awareness.

Experience in Marine Construction and piling (preferred - not essential).

Personal values aligned to McConnell Dowell's values of safety and care, honesty and integrity, customer focus, working together, and performance excellence.

Have strong commitment to Home Without Harm.

Have valid working rights in Australia.

If you would like to work for a business that appreciates the unique capabilities and perspectives of each employee, and which values the safety and well-being of its people.

Please note all successful applicants must hold valid work rights for Australia and pass a satisfactory pre-employment medical which includes drug and alcohol checks.

McConnell Dowell is an equal opportunity employer as we value diversity within our company.

This role is being sourced through McConnell Dowell directly and we will not accept applications via external recruitment.
