Company: Sharp & Carter

Location: Australia

Category: other-general

About the Company

Our client is a thriving, Australian-owned company that manufactures and markets a range of well known products. They are looking to attract an ambitious finance business partner who has had proven experience working within a complex environment. You will have excellent analytical capabilities and be a confident communicator who can engage with and influence non-financial stakeholders. Additionally, you will possess an enthusiastic & ambitious attitude which allows you to work collaboratively within a high performing finance team.

Job Description

Reporting to the Commercial Finance Manager, the Commercial Analyst will be directly responsible for:

Partnership with Sales & Marketing leadership, driving understanding and optimisation alongside analysis for end-to-end margin management.

Evaluation of effectiveness of marketing and trade spending initiatives.

Commercial analysis of pricing and promotional programs

Identifying areas for continuous improvement and executing accordingly

Support the Commercial FP&A Manager and CFO in delivering excellence in financial reporting and analysis for the wider business as required

The Successful Applicant

Our client is looking for a candidate who is ready to step up and succeed. Degree level qualifications in Accounting and working towards a CA / CPA membership are mandatory, as is previous experience in an FMCG / Retail / Manufacturing organisation. Strong technical accounting skills are important in this role, and they should be complimented with an analytical skillset. The role will involve a high level of stakeholder management across the wider business, so a proven track record in a commercial role is critical. Most importantly, you must be a strong communicator with advanced excel skills who is not afraid to challenge themselves.
