Company: Wood

Location: Perth

Category: other-general

Wood is recruiting for a Principal Civil Engineer to join our Operations business in Australia & Asia Pacific West (APAC WEST). This is an opportunity to join our expanding Oil and Gas Operations team, due to recently securing several large projects for one of our key client partnerships. Based in Perth CBD, this is a long-term commitment role and is available as full-time / part-time (job share) basis.

Wood's Operations APAC (West) business delivers brownfields engineering, procurement, construction, optimisation and technical services to the Oil & Gas sector and enjoys long-term partnerships with the region's most prominent producers located in Western Australia, Northern Territory, Kazakhstan and South East Asia.

Reporting to the APAC West Regional Discipline Manager, you will be working across FEED / Execution to EPCM delivery, with a focus on design. To be successful in your Principal Civil Engineering role, you will have prior Senior / Principal engineer level working experience in the Offshore LNG, Oil & Gas sectors within an EPCM engineering and maintenance project environment with both onshore and offshore scope of work engagements.

Manage discipline design section for specific projects to ensure that designs are in accordance with project time, budget and technical requirements

Monitor the progress and performance of project discipline teams.

Provide coaching, guidance and give input & feedback where necessary, to increase technical expertise of people, as well as knowledge of systems and procedures

Review feasibility studies documentation and estimates

Provide feedback to the Project Engineering Manager on design progress budget and schedule

Provide technical support to the onsite construction teams, projects department and estimating department

Accountable for the quality of deliverables of the discipline design section in line with the needs of the customer and regulatory authorities

Be responsible for production and/or review of engineering deliverables including models, drawings, calculations, specifications, reports, evaluations etc

Set man-hour budgets for engineering and drafting and recommend engagement of additional manning as required

Join us in the heart of Perth's CBD, free 24/7 access to an exclusive onsite gym, superb end-of-trip facilities, coffee machines serving on demand and plenty of spaces to get creative. In addition, you will have access to remote and flexible working options, purchased annual leave and employee discount programs.

At Wood, you will join an inclusive and diverse global community of inquisitive minds and recognised industry innovators, partnering to create new possibilities.

To be considered for this opportunity, ideally you would hold full work rights to be able to work lawfully in Australia. This role is also open for sponsorship, for the right candidate.

Ideally, you will be a suitably qualified engineer with a Bachelor's Civil Engineering degree or equivalent, from a recognised institution and have:

15+ years experience working as a Civil Engineer in a broad range of Oil & Gas / Mining / CAPEX projects within a multi-disciplinary environment (hydrocarbons experience in Australian facilities is highly regarded)
