Company: Aerotime

Location: Australia

Category: other-general

ALG is currently recruiting Senior First Officers to work in various locations throughout Australia including, Adelaide, Brisbane, Darwin, Melbourne and Perth.

The various roles are permanent positions and will provide the successful candidates the opportunity to earn a minimum salary of $210,000 plus superannuation, dependent on years of experience.

About the role:

The Senior First Officer will provide second-in-command support to the Pilot in Command (Captain) and where required, provide support to Flight Instructors and other trainees during simulator details.

As a Senior First Officer, you will be required to execute the tasks and duties assigned by the procedures specified in the Operations Manuals or delegated by the Pilot-in-Command. You will also need to support the Pilot-in-Command in the management of flight and decision-making by any means available and apply the principles of CRM best practices. In the case of Pilot-in-Command incapacitation during flight, you will be responsible for taking over full command of the aircraft.

You will be required to work shift work, be contactable outside normal office hours and weekends if required and be willing to travel within Australia, New Zealand and internationally from time to time.

About you:

As an experienced Senior First Officer, you will need to:

Have full working rights. Have a current ATPL issued by the New Zealand Civil Aviation or the Civil Aviation Authority of Australia, subject to you obtaining a New Zealand ATPL. Have a Type Rating on the B737 NG, preferably with recent (within at least the last 5 years) experience with the following flight hours: 3000 hrs Total Time, and 2000 hrs on MPA, and 1000 hrs on 737 NG types, or 1000 hrs on types > 50 t MTOW Currently reside or be prepared to reside in either Adelaide, Brisbane, Darwin, Melbourne, or Perth depending on the available base. These roles will take full advantage of your great communication skills and ability to build great relationships at all levels. While needing a high level of drive and initiative you will also have that balance of technical skills combined with a pragmatic hands-on approach. In return, you'll be joining a supportive family-focused organization with a competitive salary package.
