Medicine Casual About Tasmania Government

About the Tasmanian State Service The Tasmanian State Service (TSS) is the largest employer in Tasmania, with over 28,000 employees providing services to the Tasmanian community at all levels, and within more than...

Living in Tasmania you can expect the world's cleanest air, sweeping nature and parks; rugged, mountainous scenery outside your window, and proximity to the freshest local produce you've ever tasted.

Here in Launceston we have a regional population just above 77,000. Our city has an incredible sense of community and natural beauty. The spectacular Launceston Gorge provides an amazing backdrop to the city and along with a growing portfolio of recreational and artistic developments creates opportunities for full weekends. Have a Tassie adventure and immerse yourself in the ancient land and cultures of the Palawa people.

Launceston General Hospital (LGH) is committed to all people needing our service and building on our core CARE principles. LGH is a 300 bed Regional Hospital teaching hospital situated in North of Tasmania, with a strong focus on education and specialist care. With a growing number of new Consultants to the region the opportunity to be a part of a new wave of healthcare in Launceston awaits. The population catchment for the Launceston General Hospital of approximately 250 000, extends from the Northwest to the east coast of Tasmania. The LGH is unique it the level of tertiary specialist medical services it has for a regional hospital, as such we see a wide range of presentations and complex medical imaging cases.

The role: Perform basic and advanced radiographic imaging examinations with a primary focus on Magnetic Resonance imaging (MRI). The Specialist Radiographer (Medical Imaging Practitioner) is responsible for performing basic and advanced diagnostic imaging in MRI and associated administrative tasks. As the Specialist education and training of junior staff will be required.

The MRI suite performs approximately 15-20 scans per day, mostly of complex inpatient and emergency presentations. On call and weekend work is available.

The role would be a valuable addendum to extending the scope of MRI scanning for the radiographer usually working in a private setting. Note: - Please refer to the Statement of Duties for all the selection criteria of this position to address in your application.

The LGH Radiology Team: The LGH Radiology Department has an annual turnover of over 70,000 examinations and is staffed 24/7 with shifts and on call. We have a great team with access to ongoing professional development in the department. The challenges and opportunities in health and community care in Tasmania are like no other in Australia, many opportunities exist for health professionals who want to be part of making a difference. Note: - Please refer to the Statement of Duties for all the selection criteria of this position to address in your application.
